

The National Statistics Institute and quality

This List of Services reflects the commitment with quality that the National Statistics Institute plans to keep as one of the premises of its action.

The National Statistics Institute

The National Statistics Institute is an autonomous body affiliated with the Ministry of the Treasury, (Law 12/1989, of 9 May 1989, of Public Statistical Function).

Its main function is, among others, to carry out the operations necessary for establishing Statistics for State purposes (censuses, national accounts, demographic and social statistics, Electoral Census ...).

Services that the INE provides

The products and services that the INE provides can be summarised as follows:

- Online statistical information (www.ine.es). All of the statistical information that the INE produces is disseminated via the web server. The INEbase database is continuously updated, and offers, free-of-charge, endless information on these subjects, also including the methodologies and any other material that might be useful for the comprehension of said information.
- Sale of publications. The publications edited by the INE may be acquired at our offices, through distributors or via payment on delivery. The catalogue may be viewed on the INE website.
- Certifications. The information published by the INE may be certified at any of our offices. Certifications of the CPI or of municipality populations are frequently required.
- Tailor-made requests. These are specific tabulations on the original files of data that may be carried out according to the needs of the user. An experienced team deals with queries by telephone, letter, fax or email.
- Electoral Census Office. This office is in charge of forming and updating the Electoral Census. In addition, during electoral processes, it is responsible for processing the postal vote, issuing certifications, sending census cards and publishing voting lists.
- Library. The library has a vast statistical bibliographic collection available for query.

National Statistics Institute

Our objective

The National Statistics Institute sets itself the objective of creating statistics which are increasingly improved and more useful to society, fostering the simplest and speediest possible dissemination and accessibility thereof, while at all times ensuring adherence to the principle of gender equality, diversity, accessibility of services and ongoing improvements in the conditions under which these are provided.

Our missions

In order to achieve this goal, we have established for ourselves the following missions:

- To make the statistical information necessary for correctly making decisions available to citizens, companies, researchers, public and private organisations, as well as public administrations. This information is compiled by the Institute itself, and by the rest of the institutions integrated in the General State Administration.
- To produce, within the stipulated terms, statistics that are adequate, reliable and consistent, in order to address the needs of users, pursuant to the National Statistical Plan and to the guidelines of international institutions, as well as to encourage their correct use.
- To coordinate the work of the institutions of the General State Administration and to cooperate with that of the Autonomous Communities.
- To represent the official Spanish statistics before Eurostat (the Statistical Office of the European Communities) and the remaining international institutions.
- To perform the tasks of coordinating the Municipal Register of Inhabitants and to manage the Electoral Census.

Statistical Secrecy

Protects and covers all personal information from our informants. The INE does not provide, directly or indirectly, data that could lead to identifying any information about a citizen, company or institution. Their privacy is protected by Law (article 13 and subsequent articles of Law 12/1989, of 9 May).

Our commitment to quality

- All of the INE offices shall issue certificates corresponding to the CPI at the time of their requirement. The remaining certifications shall be available to the interested party on the day following the request, except for those that require a tailor-made compilation of the information.
- 90% of the queries received via email shall be answered within 24 hours; the remaining 10% within three working days. If the query is especially complex, the interested party shall be informed of the period in which their petition will be answered.
- Requests for tailor-made information shall be answered within a maximum of ten working days from the moment the quote is accepted. In the case of complex petitions, the interested party shall be informed of the period in which their petition will be answered.
- The INEbase database shall always have updated information. The information shall be made public through the INE web server (www.ine.es), at all times following the established dissemination calendar and guaranteeing access to the information, to all users, under equal conditions.
- Each month, the Electoral Census shall include all of the information received from municipal councils, consulates and the Civil Register during the previous month. All claims regarding the Electoral Census shall be resolved and communicated to the interested party within five days, and if they are during the electoral period, within a maximum of three days.
- All complaints and suggestions shall be answered within twenty working days.

Indicators for monitoring this commitment

Complaints and suggestions

- The INE regards the involvement of citizens as a factor of particular significance in carrying out its work.

- All complaints and suggestions shall be responded to within a maximum of twenty working days, pursuant to R.D. 951/2005, of 29 July, without giving rise to pecuniary liability of the Administration.
