

Industrial Production Index (IPI). Base 2005
January 2011. Provisional data

Main results

- The interannual variation of the Industrial Production Index for the month of January is 6.0%, five-and-a-half points above that registered in December.
- By economic destination of the goods, all sectors, except Durable consumer goods, present positive interannual rates.
- After adjusting for the calendar effect, the IPI in January registers an interannual variation of 3.8%, almost four points higher than that recorded in December.
- 14 Autonomous Communities register positive interannual rates for the IPI in January.

Annual evolution of industrial production

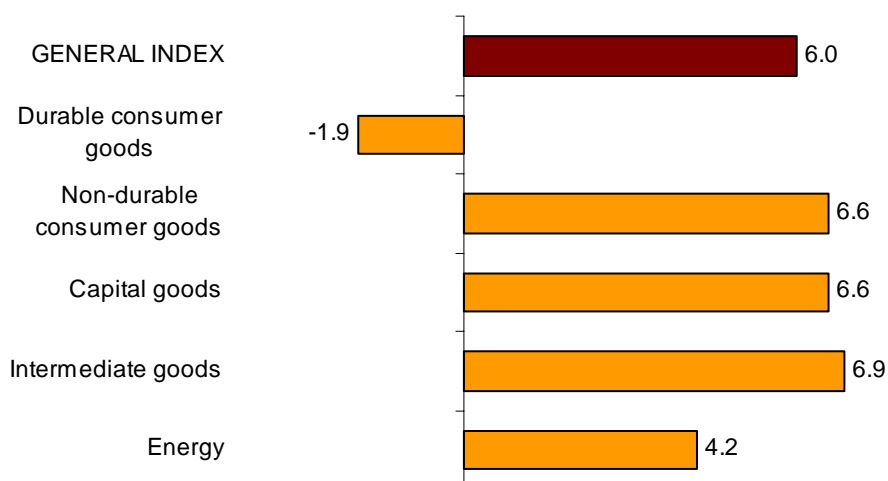

The Industrial Production Index (IPI) experienced an interannual variation of 6.0% in January, five-and-a-half points above that registered in December.

By economic destination of the goods, the industrial sectors that most influenced this interannual increase in industrial production in January were:

- Intermediate goods, with an annual variation of 6.9% and an effect of 2.261, on the general index, due to the generalised increases in the majority of activities comprising this sector. Worth noting were the increases registered in the Manufacture of basic chemical products, nitrogen compounds, fertilisers, plastics and synthetic rubber in primary forms and the Manufacture of engines, generators and electric transformers, and of distribution and electric control appliances.
- Non-durable consumer goods, with an annual rate of 6.6% and an effect of 1.925, caused by the growth registered in most of the activities in this sector. Among these, worth noting were the increases observed in the Manufacture of pharmaceutical specialities and Graphic arts and related services. Nevertheless, worth noting were the decreases recorded in the Manufacture of knitted and crocheted garments and the Manufacture of vegetable and animal oils and fats.
- Capital goods, with an interannual variation of 6.6% and an effect of 1.184, mainly due to the positive evolution of the Manufacture of other machinery for specific uses and the Manufacture of motor vehicles.

In turn, the Durable consumer goods sector was the only sector with a negative influence on the general index, with an annual variation of -1.9% and an effect of -0.058, caused by the decrease in production in the Manufacture of household appliances.

Annual rates of the IPI General index and by economic destination

A more detailed analysis showed the activities that most affected the annual rate of the IPI in the month of January.

Activities with the greatest positive effect on the annual rate of the general index

Activity (CNAE 2009 Group)	Annual rate (%)	Effect
Manufacture of pharmaceutical specialities	20.7	0.697
Graphic arts and related services	25.6	0.538
Manufacture of other machinery for specific uses	54.2	0.474
Manufacture of motor vehicles	12.8	0.432

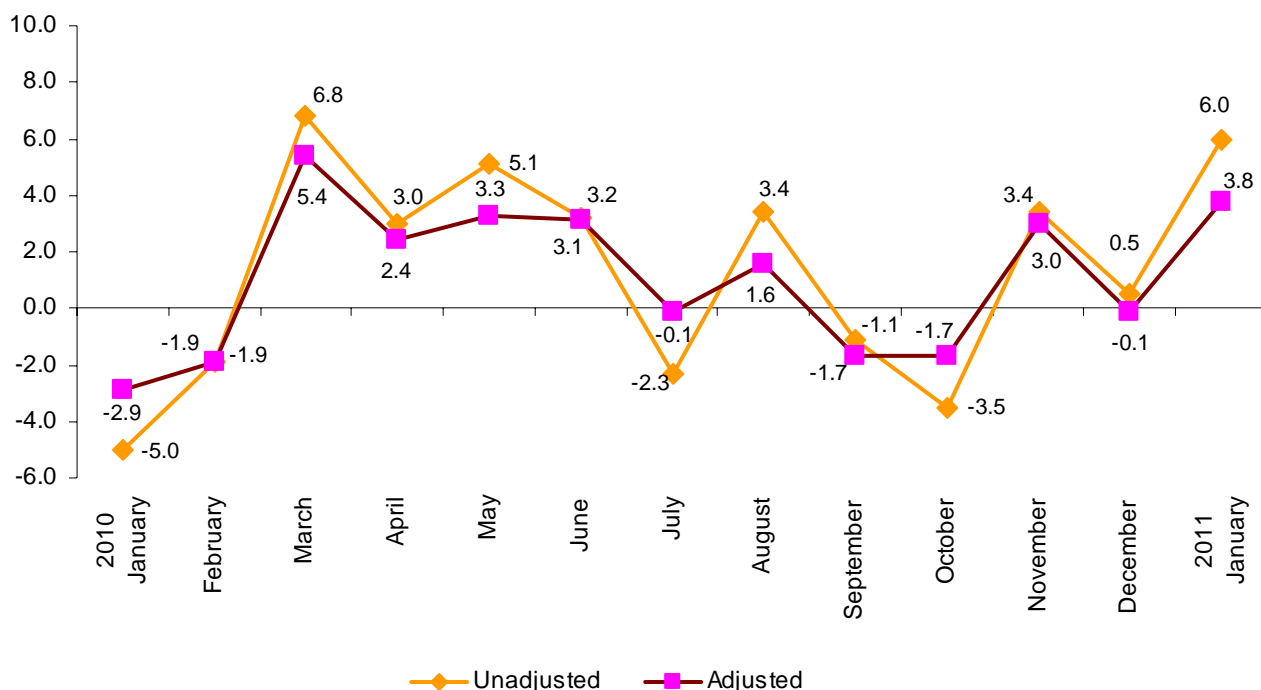

Activities with the greatest negative effect on the annual rate of the general index

Activity (CNAE 2009 Group)	Annual rate (%)	Effect
Manufacture of knitted and crocheted garments	-68.5	-0.280
Extraction of anthracite and coal	-44.3	-0.157
Naval construction	-17.5	-0.153
Manufacture of vegetable and animal oils and fats	-4.8	-0.129

Evolution of the IPI, adjusted for the calendar effect

After correcting the calendar effect, that is, the difference between the number of working days in a given month in different years, the interannual variation of the IPI in the month of January was 3.8%, almost four points higher than that registered in December.

Annual evolution of the IPI General index, adjusted and unadjusted

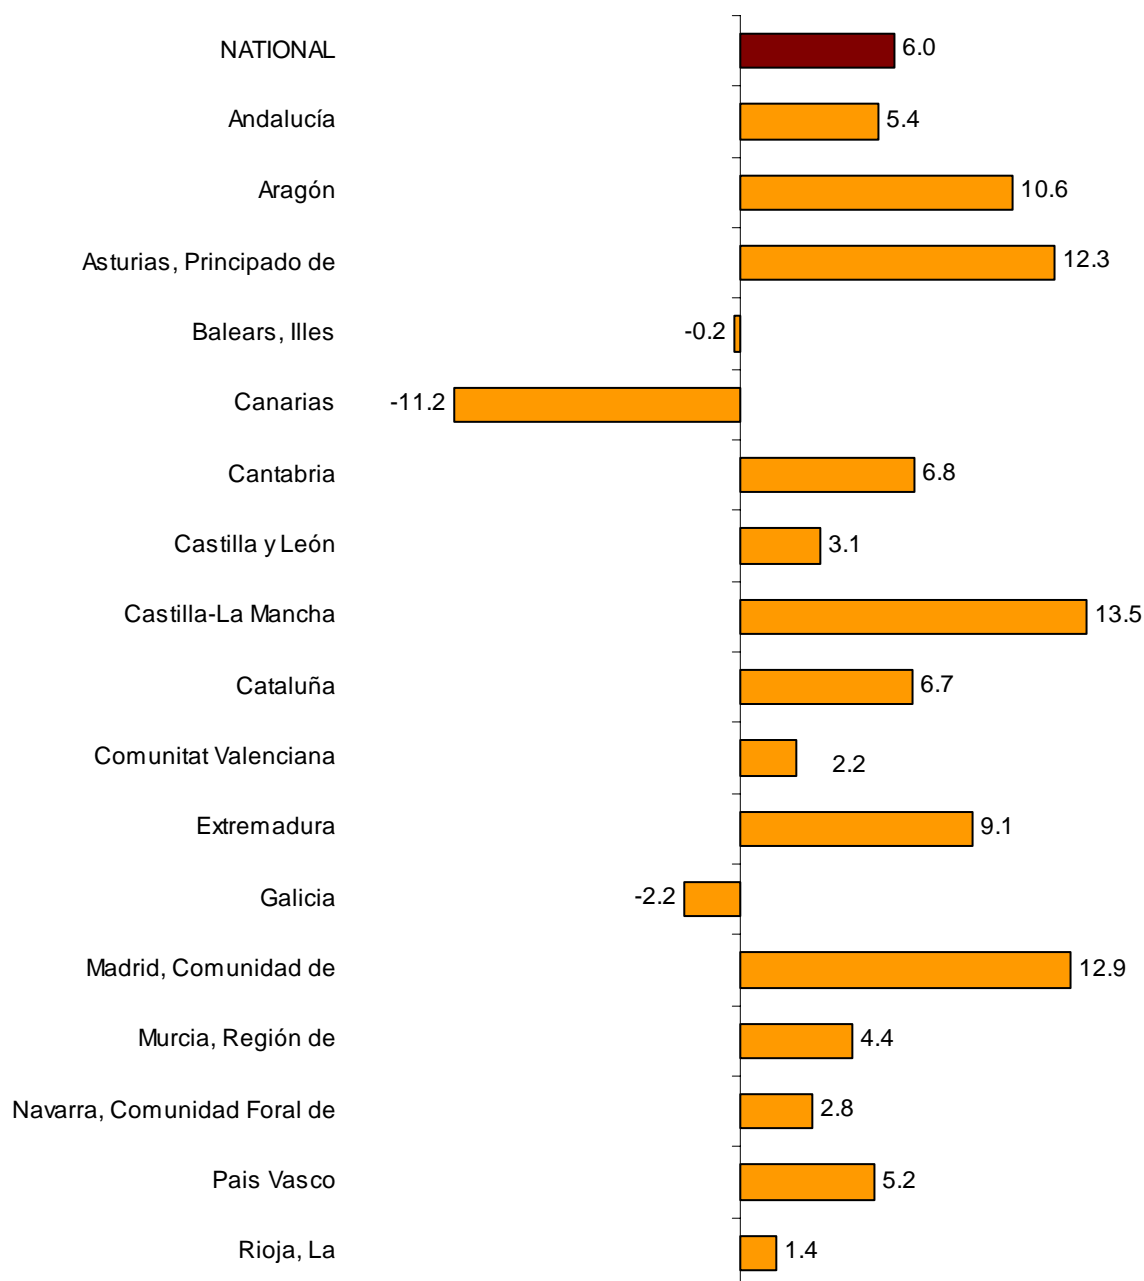

Results by Autonomous Community

14 Autonomous Communities registered positive interannual rates in January. Those that presented the highest growth rates were Castilla–La Mancha (13.5%), Comunidad de Madrid (12.9%), Principado de Asturias (12.3%) and Aragón (10.6%).

In turn, the interannual rate of industrial production decreased in Canarias (–11.2%), Galicia (–2.2%) and Illes Balears (–0.2%).
