Export and Import Price Indices of Industrial Products. Base 2005
September 2010. Provisional data

Main results

- The interannual variation rate of the Export Price Index (IPRIX) for the month of September increases two tenths, standing at 5.5%.
- The annual rate of the Import Price Index (IPRIM) for the month of September is 9.1%, five tenths higher than that registered in August.
- The monthly variation of the IPRIX is 0.1%.
- The monthly rate of the IPRIM stands at 0.3%.

Annual evolution of the export prices of industrial products

The interannual rate of the Export Price Index (IPRIX) for the month of September was 5.5%, two tenths above that registered in the month of August.

The activities that most influenced this rise in the annual rate were:

- Manufacture of coke and refined petroleum products, whose annual variation increased almost eight points, standing at 35.8%, as a consequence of the rise in prices this month, as compared with the drop in September the previous year.
- Chemical Industry, with a annual variation that stood at 9.8%, nine tenths higher than the previous month, due to the rise in prices registered this month, as compared with the drop in 2009.
- Food Industry, whose variation increased seven tenths, standing at 3.9%, due to the price increase of this activity.

Despite the rise of the annual rate of the IPRIX, worth noting was the drop in the activity rate:

- Metallurgy; manufacture of iron, steel and ferro-alloy products, whose annual rate decreased one-and-a-half points, standing at 22.6%.

In turn, after an analysis by economic destination of the goods, the industrial sectors that most influenced this rise in the annual rate were Energy (34.9%) and Non-durable consumer goods (2.7%), whose annual rates increased more than seven points and five tenths, respectively.

It is also important to highlight the drop in the annual rate of Capital goods, which decreased three tenths, as compared with the previous month, standing at 0.4%.

Annual rates of the IPRIX

General index and by economic destination of the goods

Annual evolution of the import prices of industrial products

The interannual rate of the Import Price Index (IPRIM) increased five tenths in September 2010, standing at 9.1%.

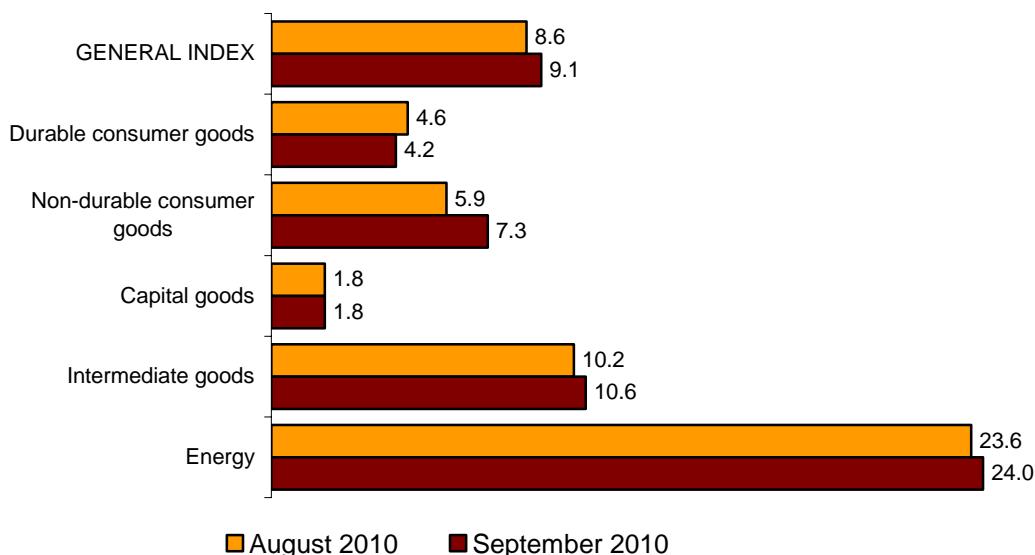

The divisions that most influenced the rise in the annual rate were:

- Food industry, whose interannual variation increased more than one point, standing at 9.3%, due to the price increase this month, as compared with the drop produced in September the previous year.
- Manufacture of coke and refined petroleum products, whose annual rate rose more than two points, standing at 26.9%. This increase was due to the fact that the prices of this activity rose more this month than in 2009.
- Extraction of crude petroleum and natural gas, whose annual rate increased six tenths, standing at 22.7%, due to the drop in prices this month being smaller than that occurring in September 2009.

By economic destination of the goods, the industrial sectors that most influenced the rise in the annual rate were Non-durable consumer goods (7.3%) and Intermediate goods (10.6%), whose rates increased more than one point and four tenths, respectively.

Annual rates of the IPRIM

General index and by economic destination of the goods

Monthly evolution of the export prices of industrial products

The Export Price Index registered an increase of 0.1% as compared with August 2010.

By economic destination of the goods, the industrial sectors with the most relevant positive effect on the general index were the following:

- Energy, whose monthly variation stood at 3.0%, with an effect on the general index of 0.188.
- Non-durable consumer goods, with a monthly variation of 0.2% and an effect of 0.039 on the IPRIX.

The only industrial sector with a negative monthly effect was:

- Capital goods, whose monthly variation stood at -0.3%, with an effect on the general index of -0.094.

A more detailed analysis showed the activities that most affected the monthly rate of the IPRIX in the month of September.

Activities with the greatest positive effect on the monthly rate of the IPRIX

Activity (CNAE-09 divisions)	Monthly rate (%)	Effect
Manufacture of coke and refined petroleum products	2.7%	0.157
Chemical industry	0.7%	0.067
Food industry	0.7%	0.061

Activities with the greatest negative effect on the monthly rate of the IPRIX

Activity (CNAE-09 divisions)	Monthly rate (%)	Effect
Manufacture of motor vehicles, trailers and semi-trailers	-0.3%	-0.070
Metallurgy; manufacture of iron, steel and ferro-alloy products	-0.7%	-0.055
Manufacture of paper and paper products	-1.2%	-0.028

Monthly evolution of the import prices of industrial products

The monthly variation of the Import Price Index stood at 0.3% in September.

By economic destination of the goods, the industrial sectors that had the greatest positive monthly effect on the general index were the following:

- Intermediate goods, with a monthly variation of 0.8%, and an effect of 0.243 on the IPRIM.
- Non-durable consumer goods, whose contribution to the general index was 0.125, and whose monthly variation was 0.7%.

A more detailed analysis showed the activities that most affected the monthly rate of the IPRIM in the month of September.
